President Donald Trump responded to the latest trove of emails sent by Jeffrey Epstein with an all-caps Truth Social post: "THE JEFFREY EPSTEIN HOAX."

Trump’s Friday morning post included a clip of Fox News host Jesse Watters claiming: “We’ve been combing through them and can’t find anything — anything — nailing Trump.”

The president has not taken questions from reporters since the House Oversight Committee released tens of thousands of records from Epstein’s

“The Democrats are doing everything in their withering power to push the Epstein Hoax again, despite the DOJ releasing 50,000 pages of documents, in order to deflect from all of their bad policies and losses, especially the SHUTDOWN EMBARRASSMENT, where their party is in total disarray, and has no idea what to do,” Trump wrote in another Truth Social post Friday.

A number of the emails mention Trump — who has not been accused of any wrongdoing — including one in which the disgraced financier claimed Trump “knew about the girls.”

Democrats accuse Trump administration of a 'cover-up' as it opposes to release Epstein Files

Several Democrats have called the president's opposition to the release of the Epstein Files a "cover-up."

In a Truth Social post Friday, Donald Trump claimed Jeffrey Epstein was the "Democrats' problem" as he told the attorney general to investigate the disgraced financier's ties to several high-profile Democrats, including former President Bill Clinton.

"You best believe if Epstein was 'the Democrat's problem,' then the files would have already been released. This is a Trump cover-up," Arizona Rep. Yassamin Ansari wrote on X Friday.

Similarly, New York Rep. Dan Goldman similarly told CNN's Anderson Cooper Thursday: "There is no question that what we have seen over the last six months is a massive cover up effort by Donald Trump to prevent the release of the DOJ's Epstein files."

Maryland Rep. Jamie Raskin wrote on X: "Republicans are scrambling to cover up the Epstein file, but we say anyone involved in Epstein's billion-dollar child sex trafficking ring must be brought to justice—whether Republicans, Democrats or, yes, even presidents."

Model turned Epstein girlfriend says she was delivered to Trump to be ‘groped’

An ex-girlfriend of Jeffrey Epstein said she was delivered to President Donald Trump by the late sex offender to be “groped.”

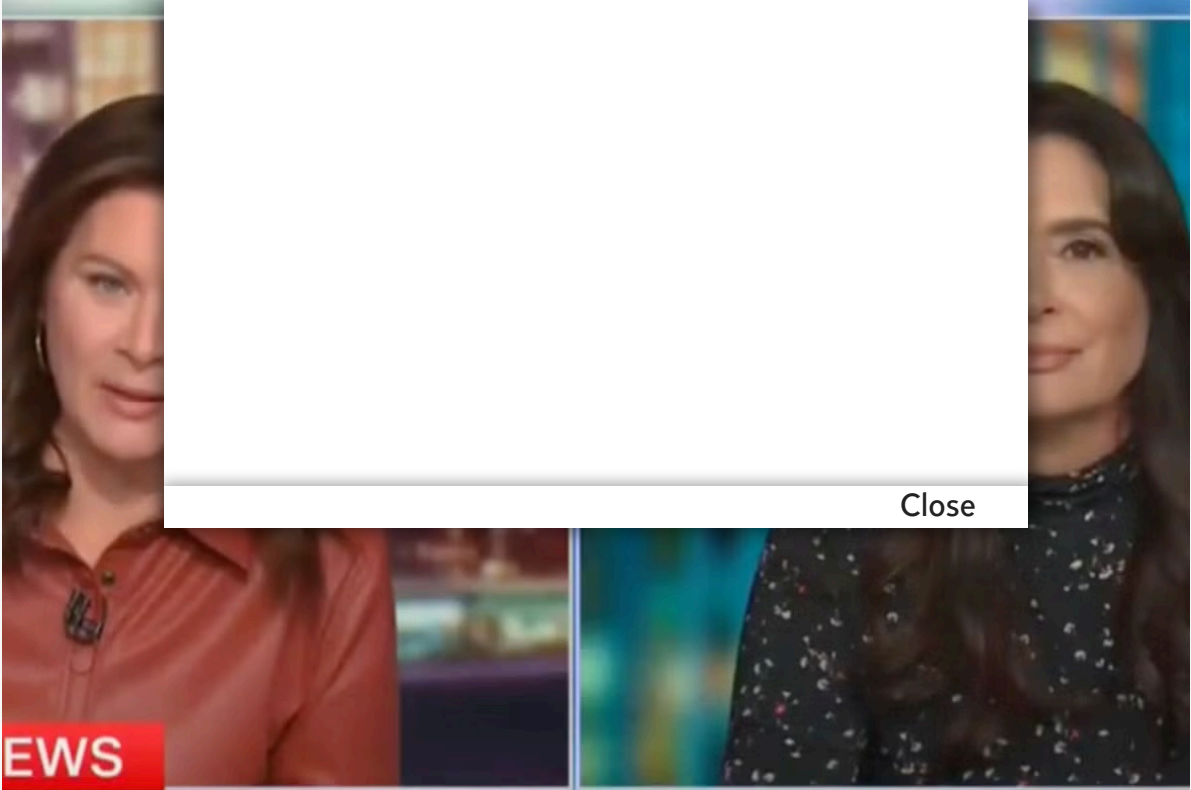

Stacey Williams, a former swimsuit model, appeared on CNN on Thursday after thousands of the convicted sex offender’s private emails were published by Democrats on the House Oversight Committee, reigniting public scrutiny into the Epstein controversy.

Williams, who dated Epstein in the 1990s, was asked for her reaction to one particular email in which the disgraced financier boasted he “gave” one of his girlfriends to Trump in 1993.

“It screams about, you know, the mindset of these men,” Williams said. “You know, the same two men who did what they did to me when Jeffrey Epstein walked me into Donald Trump’s office to be groped by him. Clearly we are these objects, these trophies, and it’s deeply misogynistic. It’s horrifying.”

Brendan Rascius has the story.

GOP lawmaker thinks Trump's order to Bondi was not 'appropriate'

President Donald Trump announced on Truth Social Friday that he plans to ask Attorney General Pam Bond and the DOJ “to investigate Jeffrey Epstein’s involvement and relationship with Bill Clinton, Larry Summers, Reid Hoffman” and others.

When asked what he makes about Trump’s call for another Epstein investigation targeting Democrats, Nebraska Rep. Don Bacon told CNN: “We should leave the DOJ and make them as independent as we can.”

“When the president gives orders to Pam Bondi and our law enforcement arms of the federal government, it...undercuts the credibility of our law enforcement,” the Republican lawmaker added.

Law enforcement should get involved “not because there’s pressure from the White House or the president,” he said. “I don’t think it’s appropriate for him to do it.”

“All it does it taint our legal system,” Bacon continued.

Epstein was at Trump Tower days after president won first race, emails suggest

One message in the latest tranche of emails from Jeffrey Epstein’s estate suggests that Epstein was at Trump Tower, just days after Donald Trump won his first presidential election.

On November 13, 2016, someone asked Epstein if he was “still in Paris.”

The disgraced financier replied: “Trump Tower.”

Trump won the presidential election on November 8, 2016. He has not been accused of wrongdoing and has claimed that their friendship ended in the early 2000s when he kicked Epstein out of Mar-a-Lago for poaching staff.

'Very disrespectful': Survivor's family slam administration after White House IDs her in emails

The family of Virginia Giuffre, an Epstein survivor who died by suicide in April, spoke out after White House officials identified Giuffre as the redacted name in one of Epstein’s emails that mentioned Donald Trump.

White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt claimed that “the ‘unnamed victim’ referenced in these emails is the late Virginia Giuffre, who repeatedly said President Trump was not involved in any wrongdoing whatsoever.”

“What another slap in the face from this administration,” Amanda Roberts, Giuffre’s sister-in-law, told MSNBC. “It is just so disgraceful. They have had no regard for a family that is grieving a loss that they will never recover from. We will never recover from this loss.”

“And there is a reason names are redacted,” she said, choking up.

A tearful Sky Roberts, Giuffre’s brother, said: “I don’t think any survivor, including my sister, should be used as a political toy.”

“It felt very disrespectful for them to unredact her name when she’s not here to speak for herself,” he added.

Trump says to 'stay tuned' as he orders AG to investigate Democrats with ties to Epstein

President Donald Trump continued his posting spree on Truth Social Friday, this time announcing that he plans to ask Attorney General Pam Bondi to investigate Epstein's relationships with several high-profile figures and institutions.

"Now that the Democrats are using the Epstein Hoax, involving Democrats, not Republicans, to try and deflect from their disastrous SHUTDOWN, and all of their other failures, I will be asking A.G. Pam Bondi, and the Department of Justice, together with our great patriots at the FBI, to investigate Jeffrey Epstein's involvement and relationship with Bill Clinton, Larry Summers, Reid Hoffman, J.P. Morgan, Chase, and many other people and institutions, to determine what was going on with them, and him," he wrote.

Jeffries says House will pass Epstein Files bill

Close

House Minority Leader Hakeem Jeffries predicted that the House's vote next week on the Epstein Files will "pass decisively."

"It's my expectation that the legislation will pass, potentially pass decisively. Democrats in the House, of course, will strongly support it. We believe in transparency. We believe it's been far too long that this information has been hidden from the American people," the New York Democrat told CNN News Central.

"And it's extraordinary that rather than focus on trying to actually extend the Affordable Care Act tax credits, drive down the high cost of living, or make life better for the American people, Donald Trump and his folks have spent this week pressuring Republicans not to back the effort to release these Jeffrey Epstein files to the American people," Jeffries continued.

"We've made clear we also need to address the rampant corruption that we see in Washington, D.C., coming out of the Trump administration and enabled repeatedly by Donald Trump's sycophants in the House Republican conference. And as part of that, transparency, sunlight, of course, is the best disinfectant," he said, adding that the American people deserve the truth.

IN FOCUS: In Trump's 'Central Casting' world, do Democrats need to get 'hot' to win?

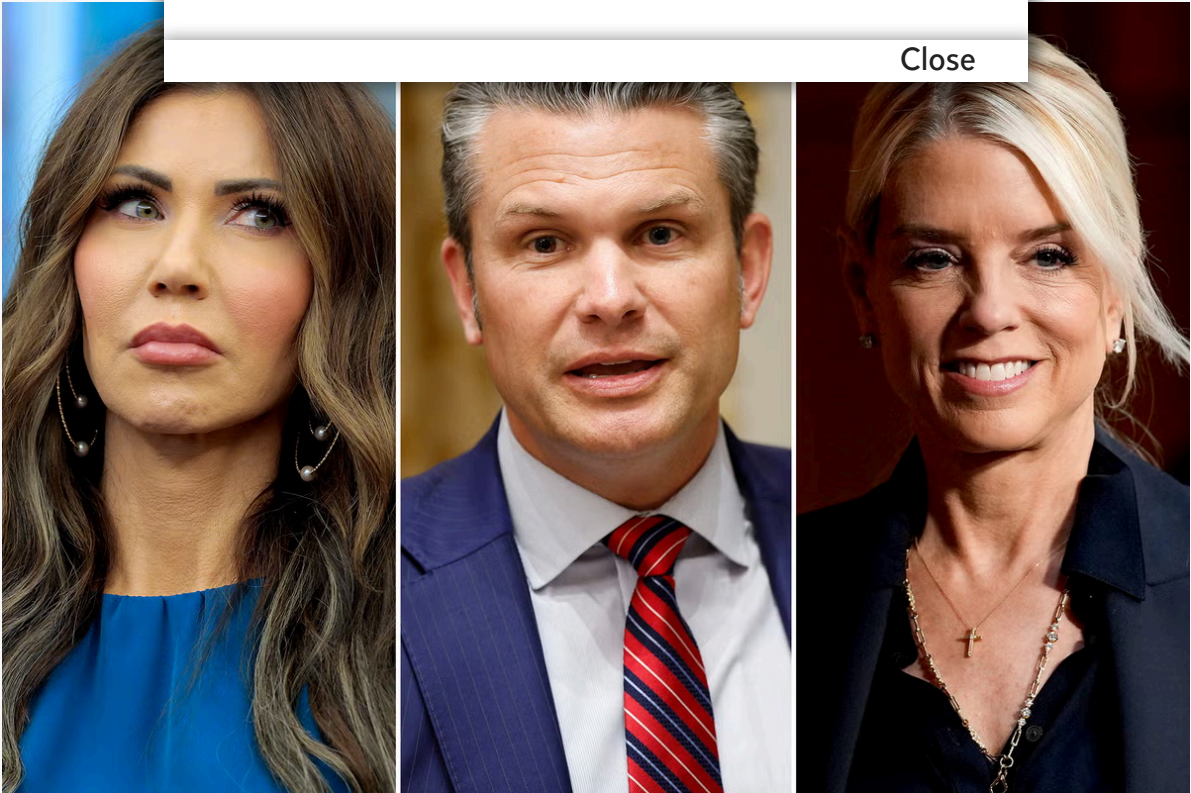

In less than a year, American voters will choose 48 governors, 435 members of the House of Representatives and 33 senators — and strategists are warning Democrats to look in the mirror. Literally.

The problem, many political consultants say, is that compared to Trump's "central casting" cabinet and the younger-skewing GOP, the most prominent Democratic messengers might not be attractive, or young enough to capture the attention of 2026 voters.

Which GOP lawmakers have said they would vote to release the Epstein Files?

Just four Republicans signed the discharge petition to force a vote to release the Epstein Files. Now that the petition garnered the necessary 218 signatures, the House will vote on whether to release the records next week.

A growing number of Republicans have said they would vote in favor of it:

- Nebraska Rep. Don Bacon told CNN: “If this comes on the floor, I will vote for it.”
- Ohio Rep. Warren Davidson said he plans to support it.

Others have said they are considering it:

- Florida Rep. Maria Salazar told CNN: “I’m a Florida girl and I have two daughters so I’m thinking...We do need to know everything about Epstein.”
- Arizona Rep. Eli Crane said: “I think I would” vote for it.

The Republicans who signed the discharge petition:

- Kentucky Rep. Thomas Massie
- Colorado Rep. Laure Boebert
- Georgia Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene
- South Carolina Rep. Nancy Mace
