

The CPA and the Lawyer Who Served Jeffrey Epstein—and Control His Fortune and Secrets

[illegible]

By Khadeeja Safdar Follow and Joe Palazzolo Follow

Nov. 22, 2025 9:00 pm ET

In 2016, a letter was drawn up for U.S. immigration officials with a glowing endorsement. It described “a very healthy marriage” between two women, their bond so deep they “often complete each other’s sentences.”

Its author, a New York accountant named Richard Kahn, said he had personally witnessed the women's "passion for each other" during meetings. He had his signature notarized to make it official.

You are Trying to Access a WSJ News Exclusive

Read it now when you subscribe

WSJ+

~~$12.50/Week~~ $1.50/Week for 1 Year

Unlock in-depth coverage with The Wall Street Journal, MarketWatch and Barron's.

WSJ

~~$10/Week~~ $1/Week for 1 Year

Unlock unlimited access to WSJ's unrivaled journalism.

Continue to Checkout

View Other Subscription Options

Already a subscriber? Sign In